MENTORING PROGRAM

LAGBAC's Mentoring Program pairs law students and young lawyers with experienced attorneys, and organizes regular social events to foster those relationships. The mentoring relationships provide a valuable opportunity for participants to learn from each other. For experienced attorneys, the program provides an opportunity to mentor students and young lawyers about their career choices and entrance into the practice of law, especially as it relates to LGBT issues. For students and young attorneys, the program offers networking opportunities, the chance to learn about different practice areas, and the support of an attorney who was once in their shoes.

"I ended up with not only a teacher, but a friend and supporter. Jim's advice and guidance have helped better prepare me for all my future endeavors."

*Jeff Arnold, student,
John Marshall Law School*

"I have found being a mentor is about the most rewarding experience of my professional career. And I am continually amazed at how much my mentees teach me."

*Jim Nawrocki, partner,
Goldberg Weisman & Cairo*
